The rice in question was, however, got tested (by picking up samples from the shelf) with a view to finding the extent of Basmati grains therein. The percentage of Basmati grains as revealed during the tests carried out on two different dates (24.2.97 and 29.4.97) was considered low. It was, therefore, decided, to stop sate of Basmati rice, procured from open market in bulk, in the packing of Kendriya Bhandar. No further enquiry in the Matter is, therefore, called for. However, the sale of brands of Basmati Rice in packings of the producers to meet customer demand continues.
